

Animal Quotations (Part 2)

“A life without a dog is a mistake.” - Carl Zuckmayer

“Women and cats will do what pleases them, dogs and men should relax and get used to the idea.” - Robert A. Heinlein

“The love for animals, enhances the cultural level of the people.” - F. Salvochea

When you leave a dog behind because he “grew old”, your children will learn the lesson. Maybe they will do the same to you when you are an old man. Think about it...

“The dog has made man their God, if the dog was an atheist, it would be perfect.” - Paul Valery

“Love is when your dog licks your face, even if you leave it alone the whole day” - Anita, 4 years old

“It doesn’t matter if an animal can reason. It matters only that it is capable of suffering and that is why I consider it my neighbor.” – Albert Schweitzer

“We can judge the heart of a man according to his love for animals.” - Immanuel Kant

“Do not call me dog. I do not deserve such a high qualification. I am not as faithful or loyal... I am only a human being.” - Unknown

“Every child should have two things: a dog and a mother who let him have one.” - Unknown

“It is shameful for our species being the dog, (man's best friend) when the man is the dog’s worst friend.” - Eduardo Lamazón

“Do not accept the admiration of your dog as an obvious conclusion that you are wonderful.” - Ann Landers

“The dog knows, but does not know that he knows.” - Pierre Teilhard de Chardin

“Who said you can not buy happiness, when you are thinking about puppies.” - Gene Hill

“If your dog does not like someone, you probably should not either.” - Unknown

“You can live without a dog, but it is not worthwhile.” - Unknown

“If a dog does not come to you after looking you in the face, it is better that you go home and examine your conscience.” - Woodrow Wilson

“Buying a dog may be the only opportunity that a human being has to choose a relative.”
- Mordecai Siega

“You can say any foolish thing to a dog and the dog will look at you in a way that seems to say: My God, he is right!!! That would have never occurred to me.” - Dave Barry

“Sitting back in the evening, stargazing and stroking your dog, is an infallible remedy.” -
Ralph Waldo Emerson

“To exercise, walk with someone who will accompany you willingly, preferably a dog.” -
David Brown

“Animals and nature are insignificant for a man when the man is unworthy.” - Unknown

“There is no better psychiatrist in the world than a puppy licking your face.” - Woodrow Wilson

“Somewhere in the rain, there will always be an abandoned dog that prevents you from being happy.” - Aldous Huxley

“The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the manner in which its animals are treated.” - Mahatma Gandhi

“Many who have dedicated their life to love, can tell us less about this subject than a child who lost his dog yesterday.” - Thornton Wilder

“Just thinking that my dog loves me more than I love him, I feel shame.” - Konrad
Lorenz

“They will be our friends forever, always and always.”